DESCRIPTION

This vocational training degree aims to create professionals in photography able to create and interpret aesthetic events. Teaching photography should not be reduced to technical and mechanical work to ensure good formal results, but it must insist on an artistic-theoretical and cultural preparation that facilitates the well-structured channeling of this theoretical-reflexive knowledge to be applied in acceptable results.

Its work generally focuses through the photographic activity related to the advertising, design, fashion, social reportage, industry, science, publishing, photojournalism and art.

This way, the demands of society in this field are covered, helping to raise the quality of this kind of products and providing them with artistic quality.
